BIAFF - Weymouth

The British International Amateur Film Festival
The Rembrandt Hotel, Weymouth • 13th - 15th April 2012

is being held in Weymouth, just ahead of the 2012 Olympic Sailing events. The classic seaside resort of Weymouth, with its sandy beach and idyllic leisure harbour, nestles perfectly alongside the rugged "Isle" of Portland on Dorset's Jurassic Coast.

SoCo, the Southern Counties Region of the IAC is hosting BIAFF 2012 at The Rembrandt Hotel, close to the sea front and the site of the 2012 Olympic Sailing events.

On Friday afternoon, there will be an optional tour around the "Isle" and a stop for refreshments. Visitors to BIAFF will have a unique opportunity to visit the National Sailing Academy on Portland Bill, where the teams will be training.

The main programme starts on a Friday evening and runs through to late Sunday afternoon. On Saturday there will be four "mini-cinemas" running at once, and each showing different fascinating programmes of top films and runners-up. On Saturday night a gala banquet with a surprise speaker, will offer a chance to get to know other delegates.

On Sunday we come together in one large hall for the screening of the major award-winning films and presentation of prizes.

Accommodation including some single rooms is reserved at The Rembrandt Hotel and additional single rooms are on hold at selected smaller sea front hotels nearby. In view of the Games, reservations need to be made much sooner than is usual, and we suggest that a deposit be sent with a booking form, available at www.MySoco.org as soon as possible so as to secure the accommodation of your choice.
